SAVAGE A BIG FIGURE IN HARNESS HORSE GAME.

M. W. SAVAGE.

M. W. Savage, owner of Dan Patch, the world's champion pacer, whose record a mile in 1:55 still stands, is one of the largest figures in the harness game (harness racing game) and has done much to keep the trotting and pacing sport up to the mark.

Mr. Savage maintains a large stock farm at Minneapolis, Minn., where at present he has 150 standard and registered trotters and pacers of all ages. These include stallions, mares, colts and fillies. Mr. Savage estimates that he has $300,000 invested in horseflesh on his farm, which itself, with the building, is valued at $200,000.

Outside of Dan Patch, Minor Hair and George Gano, the last two being the champion pacer team of the world, Mr. Savage has never paid a high price for his horses. He did pay $22,000 for Crepus 2:02 1-4 and afterwards sold him to the Russians for something over this amount. He also owns the famous trotting stallion Arion 2:07 3-4 which once sold for $125,000, the largest price ever paid for a harness horse. But Mr. Savage did not pay anything near that amount for him. Arion was the world's champion two year old trotter twenty-five years ago, trotting a mile in 2:10 3-4 as a two year old to a high wheeled sulky. He is still alive, in pretty fair condition and can do a mile in fair time although he is 27 years old.

It was on Wednesday that the venire of 40 talsmen called for jury service in blind pig cases was exhausted. Judge Ellison continued the other 13 cases until June 5, when one blind pig case will be tried in court every day.

ROCKEFELLER MAY RUN THE GREAT NORTHERN
NEW YORK, May 30.—It seems certain that the National City Bank of New York city, closely allied with Rockefeller, will exert a mighty influence on the Great Northern railroad, now that James J. Hill is dead. J. P. Morgan's holdings in the Northern Pacific may thus bring the two lines into competition. Hill prevented active competition during his lifetime.

ROOSEVELT'S ADDRESS.

International violence," he warned in another passage.

"First and foremost, friends, I ask you to be beware of the false prophets, both the prophets of sordid materialism and of that silly sentimentalism which refuse to look through this in the face of truths which are unpleasant."

The colonel scornfully referred to persons who two years ago maintained that a great war was impossible, and said it was to be expected after the present war, "their shrill, pipkins" would again rise. He held America might be attacked after the war by one of the nations fully prepared; or temporary exhaustion might lead any one of them falsely to proclaim they were "peaceful and harmless."

In any event, he asserted, it was America's paramount duty to be ready. The former president bitterly assailed the administration's Mexican policy.

We May be Attacked.

"When this war is over, it is possible that some one of the combatants, being fully armed, will assail us because we offer ourselves as a rich and helpless prize. On the other hand," he said, "it is also possible that there will be temporary exhaustion among the combatants and a willingness, even with the present most brutal and ruthless to go through the form of saying that they are peaceful and harmless. In such event there will be real danger lest our people be influenced by the foolish apostles of unpreparedness to accept this condition as permanent and once more to shirk our duty of getting ready."

Referring to business regulations, the colonel said:

The aim of government should not be to destroy the great industrial units, but, while encouraging them to regulate them in the interests of the people as a whole."

VILLISTA CACHE OF RIFLES IS UNEARTHED

NAMIQUEPA, May 30.—(Radio to Columbus, N. M.)—A search for other Villista caches was in progress today following the discovery of ten machine guns and 255 rifles in Balzac Canyon, a bandit rendezvous. The American hunt for small bands and watch upon suspected Villista hiding places have not been relaxed. The good condition of the loot found in the canyon suggests that Villa probably cached it on his retreat from Columbus.

Abolition of child labor, he said, was necessary because "in addition to treating our brother man and sister woman as we would wish them to treat us, we must also endeavor, so far as we are able, to secure them just treatment by others."

"The end we have in view," the colonel concluded, "is a high and fine national life, based on an industrial efficiency which shall be accompanied by social and economical justice. Military preparedness against war is merely a means to this end. But it is an indispensable means. We are not fit to be free men unless we show the forethought and will power necessary to insure that we ourselves shall have the right to decide our own destinies and not be forced helplessly to submit to have them decided by allied conquerors."
